According to the Shaw theory the tariff cannot be revised, with safety to the republican party before an election—that is at the long session of congress. "As there is no time to consider and pass a tariff bill at the session, after the elections are over, why of course there is no revision of the tariff at all and that is just what Secretary Shaw and the other stand-patters want.

When President Roosevelt inaugurates the Noble Order of Muckrakers, he will have to issue the first decoration for discovering embalmed beef in Gen. Miles.

The democrats of Vermont have very wisely determined to nominate a blacksmith for governor. It takes sledge hammer blows to knock any political sense into a Vermont republican, he never learns and never forgets.

THIS IS AN AD FOR THIS CITY

The Appeal adverted to the fact that inquiries come in daily for information as to the ability of merchants and manufacturers of this city to furnish mining machinery and supplies.

Carson City, and the business men of Carson City, are able to supply this sort of merchandise on short notice. It is a fact that this city is as well equipped to handle large orders for machinery and mining supplies as any other on the coast.

One of the best machine shops in the country is in active operation here. The only adequate foundry in the state is here, ready for business, and it can cast light or heavy hardware, and machine parts with equal facility.

When it comes to general repairs on mining machinery and stamp mills, building or assembling of hoists and engines, this shop has few equals on the coast, and none in the state approach it for facilities and adequate tools.

From the heavier work to the lines known as "shell hardware" the merchants of the city can supply all wants. There are three or four wholesalers in Carson City that make a specialty of mining supplies both light and heavy, to say nothing of general camp goods for outfitting a new organization for campaign in the field.

Prospecting parties may be fitted out in Carson City with every thing needed for trips in the desert, and for work on a ledge when one is found. Iron work, special construction to meet local conditions, food supplies, everything needed in either mining or agricultural exploitation can be had in this city as cheap as in any other city in the state.

Banking facilities in this city are unsurpassed from the fact that two large banks have head quarters here, with branches all over the state, and are prepared to carry and handle balances in almost any amount. The U. S. assay office is here and in case of stress, transfer orders from eastern sub-treasuries would be available.

As for transportation and means of access to any and all camps and valleys in the western part of the state, it is proverbial that all roads lead to Carson. This applies not only to wagon and stage lines, wood trails and mining roads, but railroads as well. Every camp south, now reached by railroad, can be reached easily from this city.

Freight rates and passenger fares are as cheap to and from here as in any part of the state. The service is better than on any other railroads or stage routes in the state.

The merchants of this city carry large stocks and make close prices.

The machine work may be done at actual cost of material and time employed on the piece of work.

The Appeal will answer any inquiries as to special lines, or special business houses from any person desiring such information.

The beef trust manager has invited the agricultural committee of congress to visit Packington to see for themselves how clean and sweet everything is there, and the ranch-cans of the committee are said to favor the whole washing junket.
